
Why Worship Allah??

Posted by Rabeel - 2007/10/01 12:49

Human Beings are born chained in customs, traditions, rituals, and the family traits

The Man evolves their ethics and code of conduct to judge the world. The Man nevertheless is born with an inquisitive head and heart

Who am I? Who has created me? What is the relationship between my Creator and me? The Man seeks answer to the most complex questions in their lives. Where from have I come and whence shall I return to! Without knowing she enters the folds of so many snares It is then that they finds themselves impeded by the society in which they have been brought up

We all are slaves, slaves of our heart....what our heart wishes we follow it...it ask for comfort... pleasure....freedom.....and we start obeying its order

we are slaves of our family....to make them happy.....to be obedient for them... infact exact word for is Responsibilities we have

But why not we accept that.....The creator of this universe....who created head and heart...family... our pleasures...desires.....why not we accept His authority.....and Submit to him????

when we do something for someone.....we get minimun reward.....or inreturn or feed back

But Honestly speaking if we do little for the Allah Subhana tala he will give a reward....more than our thought.....it would be in Billions....MillionsTrillions.....or uncountable so why not we follow his direction??? and feel free.....he would guide...protect...us but it is difficult to understand.....because we have not seen God.....but we have seen people.....so we become narrow minded....

Allah subhana tala says if it is allowed for me to appear infront of the Man in the world then Man would forget everthing...he would leave everything and start living only for me Allah Subhana tala is so pretty that we can not imagine

But we need a heart to imagine is Spiritual Beauty.....even in Ramadan before aftari befora Sehri.....if you call Allah with full Zeal...enthusiasm then believe me he would reply you and you feel.....Strange type of intoxication...as your heart is full of some heavenly pleasure or Spiritual intraction

soo.....Remember God.....not because you need it but because he Created you

=====